

HEROIC MATRON

And Nurses Prevented Loss of Life in Children's Home at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky.—Fire drills were forgotten by the inmates of the Kentucky Children's Home Society and only the coolness of Miss Nellie Coleman, the matron, prevented losses of life and property. She directed the use of fire extinguishers to put out the blaze before the fire department arrived, while, with her nurses and assistants, she rescued six or seven children from suffocation in their rooms.

The fire started in the laundry, but the direction of Miss Coleman was able to keep it under control. Fred Poindester, Nancy Williams, Curtis Hackworth, Thomas Nelson and other children were saved by the nurses. It is believed by the department here that a stove in the laundry ignited some dried clothes. Several scores of children were in the home.

STATE MILITIAMEN

Are Being Court-Martialed For Infraction of Duty.

Frankfort, Ky.—The first court-martial held in Kentucky in years convened here for the purpose of trying Capt. M. L. Chowning, of Lawrenceburg, charged with filling the ranks of his company for inspection with militiamen from this city. Lieut. H. S. Smith, of Danville, accused of "padding" the expense account of the troops under his command while in service recently in Bracken county on account of the night-ride troubles, and Private C. C. Epps, of Middlesboro, who is charged with desertion while guarding the tobacco barn of Dr. S. H. Halley, near Lexington. The first case taken up was that of Private Epps, and the verdict will not be made public until it is approved by Gov. Willson.

Bank Closed; Cashier Under Arrest.
Monticello, Ky.—The Citizens' National bank failed. Chas. McConaghy is cashier and E. R. Winfrey assistant cashier. It developed that Winfrey had been gone several days and Mr. McConaghy was arrested by the United States marshal of Somerset, Ky., and carried to that city for a hearing before United States Commissioner James R. Cook. The shortage is estimated at about $22,000.

Saved By Bucket Brigade.
Frankfort, Ky.—With wet blankets the bucket brigade of farm hands saved the fine residence of former Congressman South Trimble, at the forks of the Elkhorn. The fire originated from a defective flue in the servants' cottage, near the main residence. The loss is $1,500. The insurance policy on the cottage expired a few days ago, and Trimble forgot to renew it.

Would Be Pardoned Anyway.
Louisville, Ky.—Gov. Willson probably will not ask for the extradition of Taylor and Finley unless Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin shall first agree to grant them bail. The consensus of opinion in the county is that if they should be brought back and convicted on the Goebel murder charge Gov. Willson, who is a republican, would eventually pardon them.

Roosevelt To Visit Kentucky.
Lexington, Ky.—President W. G. Frost, of Berea College, has invited President Roosevelt, when he comes to Kentucky on February 12, next, to attend the celebration of the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's birth, to stop and plant a tree on the campus of a new colored school, which Berea college is founding and which may be located here.

Retired Grocer Suddenly Stricken.
Louisville, Ky.—Two hearty laughter over a joke caused the death here of Frederick L. Rehm, 55, a retired grocer. He was at the home of his sister, Mrs. Catherine Visman, and while talking and relating stories to some friends who had gathered at the supper table he pitched over dead.

Awarded Damages.
Lexington, Ky.—Mrs. Anna Woodward, suing the Lexington Railway Co. for $5,000, was awarded $3,000 damages by a jury in the circuit court. The proof in the case was that Mrs. Woodward was injured when a street car collided with the buggy in which she was riding.

Falconer Wants It.
Lexington, Ky.—The latest rumor political is that D. Gray Falconer, an ardent worker in the republican ranks, will be an applicant for appointment to succeed Sam J. Roberts as revenue collector for this district.

FARMER SUES FATHER-IN-LAW.

Charges That Defendant Alienated Affections of His Wife.

Newport, Ky.—A suit in which a father-in-law is being sued for $5,000 damages for the alleged alienation of his daughter's affections was filed in the Newport circuit court by Attorney Kilpatrick for Frank Bittner, a farmer, living above Dayton, Ky.

Herman Runge is named defendant. The plaintiff says he was married to Lillie Runge in 1905, and that they lived happily until last September, when she abandoned him.

He alleges that last August he was taken sick and confined to bed for several weeks, during which time the father-in-law visited his home and prejudiced his wife against him, causing her to neglect and mistreat him in his illness, and persuaded her to abandon him and take her two children. He also alleges that he made repeated efforts to see his wife since then, but was prevented by the defendant.

SELF-HELP BUREAU

To Be Tried By Lexington College of Bible.

Lexington, Ky.—The students of the College of the Bible and Transylvania university have organized a bureau of self-help, in imitation of Yale and other large universities.

For 15 cents an hour the university offers to supply its students for work at laying carpets, cleaning yards, cellars, coal piles, ashes, gardening or do any other sort of work.

The university says, in short, a "handy man" will be put within reach of everybody in the city.

Revenues Improved.

Louisville, Ky.—Revenue collections for November 16, 1908, tell a different story from those of November 16, 1907, the day the panic struck Louisville. On November 15, 1907, the collections had been $59,000, and the next day they dropped to $9,000. Monday they were $80,000, a reverse of $71,000, and the collections on whisky alone, $77,722.64, were the largest made any one day in the last seven years.

Plenty of Cash in State Treasury.
Frankfort, Ky.—The financial panic in the state treasury is a thing of the past. Treasurer Farley made an announcement that there is plenty of money to pay all outstanding warrants. He has $350,000 in cash. Owing to the expense the state was put to by Gov. Willson in keeping troops in the night rider districts the treasury has been drained for 10 months.

A Spectacular Blaze.

Louisville, Ky.—One of the most spectacular fires of the year in Louisville was extinguished by the local fire department at the plant of the Standard Oil Co., at Fifth and Bloom streets. The total loss is estimated by the officers of the plant at $2,000. A passing switch engine dropped a hot cinder from its ashbox, causing the blaze.

Elizabethtown, Ky.—Loneida McDonald, a "voodoo doctor," was sentenced to serve four years in the penitentiary for having victimized Harriet Harris out of $290. THE HAUNTED WILLOW.

In Rockcastle county, in this State, on the loneliest portion of the dreary road leading from Broadhead to Negro creek, in the field and surrounded by a thicket, stands a wide spreading willow tree. This tree and its immediate vicinity are said to be haunted, and many are the weird tales told by some of the most reputable people of the country of the supernatural occurrences that transpire there, and so uncanny is its reputation that few will pass the lonely spot after dark if it can be avoided.

Two of the atrocious murders that stain the annals of Rockcastle county were committed under this tree. The first of these was the assassination of Jim Ross by Steve Adams. This affair created a good deal of interest at the time and yet frequently discussed on account of the alleged supernatural persecution of the murderer. The killing occurred shortly after the civil war, the assassin being concealed in the thicket surrounding the tree.

MURDERED AT HIS PLOW.

The two men were living on adjoining farms. Adams' hogs, of which he owned quite a number, frequently broke into Ross' fields and destroying his growing crops. When Ross spoke to Adams about it the latter was angered and a violent quarrel ensued. After this Ross began a merciless warfare on the marauding pokers and Adams determined to kill Ross at the first opportunity, which was not long in presenting itself. One day while Ross was plowing a field he was fired upon by Adams, who was concealed in a clump of trees and underbrush and instantly killed his body falling at the root almost at the roots of the tree above referred to. At the trial for the murder Adams was acquitted.

Shortly after this Adams began circulating strange stories of his persecution by the spirit of the man he had murdered. On one occasion, he said, as he was riding along the road near the locality of the killing he was struck a heavy blow on the back of the head, which nearly felled him from his horse. When he looked around to ascertain who or what had inflicted the blow he was horrified to see Jim Ross disappear in the bushes near the foot of the old tree.

ANOTHER GHOSTLY ASSAILANT.

At another time, as he was returning to his home from Broadhead after dark, he was startled to feel a heavy body mount behind him. This was followed by a pair of strong arms encircling him much to his discomfort.

In vain did he look for his companion. Though he felt the tightening grasp and distinctly heard the heavy breathing close to his ear, there was nothing to be seen. When near the scene of murder, he was struck sharp in the face by his unseen persecutor, who seemed to immediately fall from his horse and take to the bushes. These and many more stories of a like character he told, and whether his persecution had its origin in a deeply smitten conscience or was a reality it was all the same to him. He firmly believed it as did many others. Adams finally moved to Garrard county.

One night he gave a dance at his home, during which a general fight occurred and he was fatally stabbed by unknown parties. dered between them on account of Powell's cruel treatment of his wife. One day when he was beating her her father interfered and severely chastised his son-in-law. Powell never forgave him for this and in his heart swore vengeance. The old tree's reputation was not benefited any by this second murder committed in its shadows. On the contrary, it was more avoided than ever, and the number of uncanny stories told about it was greatly increased. It is told by some of the best citizens of the county that on every night of the year, clear or

KILLING OF ALLEN HAGGARD.

Several years after the Ross murder, Bill Powell assassinated Allen Haggard near the haunted tree, the murdered man's body falling in the identical spot where Jim Ross died. Powell was Haggard's son-in-law and bad blood was engencloudy, a light as if from a large light can be distinctly seen burning clearly and brightly in the branches of the so-called haunted tree. So bright is the light that objects within a radius of twenty feet of the tree can be clearly discerned. The singular part of this manifestation, however, is that when parties which have gone to investigate the strange appearance were within a short distance of the locality the light would be invisible to them and all would be dark as pitch, while to others who would be stationed farther away the light would be as distinctly visible as ever. Many other gruesome tales are told of the old tree, and a brave man is he who will willingly be caught in its vicinity after dark.

FAMOUS TOM KENNEDY FARM.

Over in Garrard county, a short distance from Lancaster, is situated the "The Kennedy Farm," celebrated as having figured in Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin." This old farm was the scene of a bloody tragedy shortly before the outbreak of the civil war. As the story goes, a deadly feud existed between General Tom Kennedy, the owner of the farm, and James Gillespie, a wealthy planter of the neighborhood, as the outcome of an insulting epithet passed by Kennedy during a quarrel between the two men. Kennedy was a man of robust stature, quick to quarrel and very dangerous when aroused. Gillespie was a man of much the same kind, and everybody knew that when a meeting of the men occurred the death of one or the other was assured.

Finally the meeting took place right in front of General Kennedy's veranda. Gillespie, grown impatient for satisfaction for the deadly insult offered him, had sought his enemy on the threshold of his home; a few hot words were passed, shots were exchanged, and Gillespie fell mortally wounded. Kennedy had the dying man conveyed to a room in the upper story of his house, and the life blood flowing from him dyed the floor for several feet around, and now it is averred that the stains change from a dull brown to a pronounced red every year, the color being the most vivid the 24th, day of June, which is the anniversary of the murder of Gillespie by Tom Kennedy. The change begins the 23rd, and though gradual, is quite preceptible, and the color is a deep red on the 24th after which it changes back to dull brown. Kennedy is buried in the little country churchyard near the farm. His grave is beneath a huge weeping willow, and over his last resting place is a stoneslab bearing an inscription. It is alleged that this slab has been rent asunder three times by lightning.—Bardstown Record.

This remarkable story of the haunted willow, makes a very readable article but as to the truthfulness of the whole story we can not vouch for it and we believe our Bardstown friend has used his imagination rather freely in the preparation of the story.

The grand jury at Nashville Friday afternoon returned a true bill against Robin Cooper, Col. D. B. Cooper and former Sheriff John D. Sharp, charging them with the murder of Senator E. W. Carmack. It is expected that the case will be called up for trial until the January term of court.

PE-RU-NA RECEIVES PRAISE

For Relieving Such Symptoms as Debility, Backache and Headache.

Mrs. Tressie Nelson, 609 North 5th Ave., Nashville, Tenn., writes: "As Peruna has done me a world of good I feel in duty bound to tell of it, in hopes that it may meet the eye of some who has suffered as I did. headache, I had backache or a pain somewhere and really life was not worth the effort I made to keep going.

"A good friend advised me to use Peruna and I was glad to try anything, and I am very pleased to say that six bottles made a new woman of me and I have no more pains and life looks bright again."

There are a great many phases of woman's ailments that require the assistance of the surgeon.

But by far the greatest number of such cases are amenable to correct medicinal treatment.

A vast multitude of women have been relieved from the ailments peculiar to their sex through the use of Peruna as prescribed by Dr. Hartman.

He receives many letters from all parts of the country relating to subjects of vital interest to womankind.

Of the vast multitude of women Dr. Hartman treats annually, only a small per cent. of them consider it necessary to write to the Doctor at all.

While it is not affirmed that Peruna will relieve every case of this kind, it is certainly the part of wisdom for every woman so afflicted to give Peruna a fair trial.

"I am enjoying good health since taking your medicine. I had suffered for a good many years previous to taking Peruna, and ever since I can say that I do not know what headache or neuralgia is. I can most assuredly say that anybody afflicted with catarrh in any form can be cured by taking Peruna."

THE Secretary of the Farmers' National Committee is of the opinion that the time has arrived when alcohol will be a successful competitor of coal oil. The general use of the denatured article as fuel, in heating, cooking and lighting. It is said to be cheaper than coal at present prices. Then it is smokeless, sootless and odorless. The industry is of course in its infancy and it is expected that in time alcohol will be much cheaper than it is now, at fifty cents a gallon. At present corn is the main material from which the alcohol that is used for commercial purposes in this country is made, but in time it will be made from many other and cheaper materials.

A COMMITTEE has been appointed and will soon start for the back woods to study conditions on the farms, with a view to assisting the President to devise means of making country life more agreeable. They will probably find that the farmers are troubled by the same conditions as the poor man in the cities, that is, too little money and too much work, but the junketers must have their junks.

JOHN MOREHEAD, Congressman elect from North Carolina says his friends have betrayed him by effecting his election when he understood distinctly that he was to be an "also ran". But he need not mourn. No one in Washington will pay any attention to him, and except for answering his name at roll call Uncle Joe will see that he has nothing to do in Congress.

THE Democrats are not the only ones who are mourning the election of Mr. Taft. The Rough Riders of all politics have seen their fate sealed by the retirement of Mr. Roosevelt and they will have to go away back and sit down with those once favored people who come from Canton, Ohio.

LANGFORD

Lester Coffey who died Saturday week from injuries received by a fall at Eureka, Colo., was born April 19 1882. His remains were brought home Saturday November 14th. and was laid to rest on Sunday beside his little brother to await the great resurrection morn.

He leaves a father, mother, sister four brothers and a host of friends to mourn the loss of a devoted son, brother and friend. Most unfortunate and sad indeed seems his death coming as it did so suddenly. Stricken down in the bloom of youth, when his prospects were so bright. By his death the county has lost a splendid young man. Never was there a boy in the county who had more friends than Lester. He was honorable, upright and noble. When about sixteen years old he became a member of the church of Christ at Buckeye of which he was a member when he died. He was always a faithful attendant at church and Sunday-school when here. He has been away about five years, but would often write back expressing a desire to be here to attend services.

To the heart-broken family I will say you have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood. Though Lester can never come back to you, you can go to him.

FARM NEWS.

Dusty feeding places are very injurious and lack of sunshine for early pigs is very detrimental.

It is not so much what we get over and above the cost of production that tells the story.

The world has never yet had enough good butter, prime mutton and strictly fresh eggs. There is always a market for choice product.

Most of us know what our cows are producing, but do we know what it costs to make them produce it? This is the thing that counts. Remember that the winter success depends in a great measure on the management of the fowls in the fall and do not grudge the time and work you are giving them now. It will pay in the end.

Sift a quart of fine slacked lime into a barrel with a cover, stir up a big dust and drop the gapey chickens into it. Pull them out after you have counted fifteen and they will squeeze the worms into the hereafter.

To keep apples through the winter store them in a well ventilated room where they will be as near the freezing point as possible and not be frozen. Do not unhead the barrels until the apples are wanted.

The famous Lookout Inn and several cottages located on Lookout Mountain, near Chattanooga, were destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon. Forest fires are still raging along the mountainside and threatening the destruction of timber and houses.

WILLSON TO SHOW HIS HAND.

Governor Willson will likely have to show his hand in the Taylor-Finley indictments in a short time, for Arthur Goebel and Commonwealth's Attorney Robert Franklin the other day said, and it is understood will ask for a requisition on the new Democratic Governor of Indiana, Thomas Marshall for them.

Governor Willson made a statement a month ago that he desired the indictments taken up and tried right off the docket by the first of the year. If the requisition is honored, it is certain that the Governor will demand that the prisoners be given bail or he will probably not ask for it.

Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin will not consent to bail, but says they must be treated like other prisoners charged with murder.

He finally set the house on fire and was consumed in the flames.

Mrs. Agnes Leitner, wife of a glass-blower, cut the throats of her two children, aged 6 and 3 years, respectfully, then her own, at Frankfort Sunday afternoon. The children's heads were almost severed from their bodies and Mrs. Leitner died a few minutes after she had committed the crime. It is thought the deed was done in a fit of despondency brought about by financial trouble.

A crisis in the history of China, and especially in that of the Manchurian dynasty, has come to a head in the death of both the Emperor and the Dowager Empress. An hour's shift of sentiment might precipitate a revolution and the unseating of the hated Manchurian rulers; but the population seems to view the situation with characteristic unconcern. There are semi-official assurances from Tokio, justifying belief that there will be no effort on Japan's part to make the emergency an occasion for aggression.

Fairly beaming with good nature and contentment, John D. Rockefeller took the stand in New York to testify in the suit which the Government has instituted to compel the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Rockefeller began with his first ventures into the oil business, and detailed the various changes that took place in his business connections. He was still on the stand answering the questions propounded by his counsel in direct examination when court adjourned for the day.

of Cod Liver Oil is the means of life and enjoyment of life to thousands: men, women and children.

When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden.

When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health.

When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright. It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food when you hate it and can't digest it?

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach.

FAMOUS OLD LOOKOUT INN

REDUCED TO ASHES AND FOUR COTTAGES ALSO BURNED.

Heroic Efforts Made To Save Timber and Country Homes From Conflagration.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 18.—Famous old Lookout Inn, on the crest of Lookout mountain, was burned to the ground late Tuesday together with all its contents. The managers, Messrs. Jung and Shammotulski, stated that a deal had just been consummated for the sale of the inn property for a consideration of $135,000, and but for the fire the deal would have been closed Tuesday. There was but $26,000 insurance on the hotel and its furnishings.

The Moorelin Brewing Co., of Cincinnati, was the chief stockholder of the company which owned the inn. Aside from the hotel four cottages and their contents were destroyed, entailing a loss estimated at $16,000. The incline power house was badly damaged and the trestle on the face of the bluff was ablaze for a considerable time. Tuesday night there was a streak of fire almost from the top to the base of Lookout mountain along the line of the incline, and a force of men were fighting it to prevent its spread to the timber and the many cottages which dot the slope of the mountain.

The fire started in the south wing of the hotel building, but the exact cause has not yet been ascertained. The general theory is that a defective flue is responsible for the fire. The building was as dry as tinder, and a high wind, which was sweeping across the mountain from the west, quickly carried the flames the entire length of the building, and the structure was consumed in a very short time.

From the city the fire was a spectacular one during its early progress, but soon the mountain was entirely enveloped in a dense cloud of smoke and all that could be seen from high points in the city was what appeared as a terrible storm cloud rolling from the southwest. With the coming of darkness, however, the smoke cleared and the crest of old Lookout was marked by a rim of red fire, with the downward mark resembling a huge figure "9."

The hotel was completed in 1889 and contained about 400 rooms. Each succeeding year following its opening it has been visited by persons of note from all over the world. Prince Henry of Prussia pronounced it the most ideal he had ever visited, and the scenery more gorgeous than that of the Swiss Alps.

John D. Sharp, former Sheriff of Davidson county, was arrested at Nashville Thursday charged with aiding and abetting in the murder of former Senator E. W. Carmack. It is alleged that Sharp was seen with the two Coopers shortly before the killing and was also at the scene of the tragedy immediately after Carmack fell to the ground. Sharp was taken to jail.

Epilepsy, Fits

Convulsions, or Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance are Nervous Diseases. Most cases can be cured by strengthening and building up the nervous system. To do this a nerve medicine is needed. Dr. Miles' Nerveine will be found efficacious and satisfactory. It has cured many cases of these diseases and we believe it will cure you. We can give you names of many who have been cured through its use. Write for advice.

"My son John had epilepsy for years, and after having him treated by specialists for over 2 years he still continued to have spells. I had almost given up in despair, but knowing the virtue of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for sick headache, I concluded to try the Nerveine. During June, 1906, I gave him a teaspoonful three times a day, then in July I gave it as directed, and I could see that he was improving, and he has not had a spell since August 28, 1906, and has taken no medicine since Jan.-07. I am writing the case just as it is hoping it will induce others to try it."

Frankfort Ky., Nov. 7 1908
Dear Superintendent:

I am planning a week's campaign for education throughout Kentucky. I mean a whirlwind campaign that will reach every county. I have secured speakers, both at home and abroad, to spread a contagious gospel. The campaign will begin Sunday, November 29th, and will close Sunday, December 6. All speakers will be talking education for these eight days. It is a great opportunity to help schools and the cause of education in our State.

Twenty-five or thirty men and women have made a sacrifice for the cause we love, in order to go into the field for these eight days. They do it without money and without price. I will pay all necessary expenses, and for this purpose some friends of education have placed a fund at my disposal.

I am sending to your section Dr. A. J. Kinnaman as speaker. I suggest, in your county, that you have a mass meeting of men, women and children at Brodhead Monday Nov., 30 at 10 a. m.; Mt. Vernon, Monday, Nov., 30 at 1 p. m.; Livingston, Monday Nov. 30 at 7 p. m. J. G. CRABBE S. P. I.

Let the Rockcastle teachers, trustees, patrons and all interested in education be on hand on the above dates. I will arrange late an elaborate program for the occasion, places of meeting etc.

We wish the churches in each town all to unite and furnish plenty of good music. Local speakers will be on hand for short talks.

Respectfully yours,
G. M. BALLARD,
County Superintendent.

A GOOD LINIMENT.

When you need a good reliable liniment try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It has no superior for sprains and swellings. A piece of flannel slightly dampened with pain balm is superior to a plaster for lame back or pains in the side or chest. It also relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible. COLLEGES AND CITIZENSHIP.

It would be strange if in the general progress of enlightenment and the vast and varied improvement in ways of doing things in this advancing age educational ideas and methods had remained at a stand-still. They that have not been evident by the constant discussion of topics relating to the subject and by a criticism almost destructive in its extent of things as they are. While the institution known as the American college has maintained its high standing in public esteem as a place for general training of the powers and the teaching of the humanities, there have not been lacking those who insist it is superfluous and productive of no good at all commensurate with the time and outlay involved in maintaining it. It is insisted that, as a rule, the four college years are so much time wasted, and that the young should pass directly from high schools into active life or to professional training. Harry A. Garfield, in his recent address when inaugurated as President of Williams College, took up the question, his subject being "What is the Chief End of the American College?" and incidentally whether that end justifies its continuance. The high standing of the college, the presence of the most notable gathering of college instructors ever brought together in this country, and Mr. Garfield's success as a teacher at Princeton, give special interest to the address.

He begins by asserting that the existence of the college can be justified, not, as has been generally believed, by its relation to preparatory and professional schools, but by its end or object and the degree to which it fulfills them. He believes that the charge of vagueness brought against the American college is, in part at least well founded, and contrasts the vagueness of aim and consequent idleness often found there with the hard work and distinct purpose of professional schools. What is needed he says, is an object that will appeal to every student, whatever his life work is to be. "This object must meet the requirements of the times without sacrificing the rich heritage of the past. It must quicken and inspire men to new and higher conceptions of life without rendering them less, but rather more, efficient members of society. Such an object is expressed by the word citizenship. America's greatest need is that the men and women of the United States comprehend all that citizenship imports and live up to its obligations. Hence I venture to assert that the chief end of the American college is to train citizens to citizenship."

He then goes on to state what citizenship is and what its requirements are, and continues: "A nation will be great and strong whose citizens, bound together by common traditions, inspired by high ideals, march forward with eager and steady tread toward a goal which ever is advancing. To attain to that standard requires long and patient effort, for it means that the vast majority must be brought up to the highest level of well-trained, high-minded, efficient manhood. More specifically, it means that citizens must be trained to easy control of their mental faculties as well as of their bodily powers—trained to distinguish between scientifically determined facts and loosely reasoned opinions; to discriminate between things and conditions of varying value; to be zealous in everything that makes for the advancement and welfare of the whole body; it means that the vast majority must be keen to know, constant in service, quick to sacrifice their own for the common good, possessed of a sympathetic understanding of all sorts and conditions of men, and not merely of those of the particular class with which each works and plays; it means that the majority must come at last to realize that a nation's highest welfare is somehow and always inextricably a part of the highest welfare of mankind everywhere."

A RELIABLE REMEDY FOR CROUP.

With the dry, cold weather of the early winter months, parents of croupy children should be on the alert for ominous symptoms. There is no cause for anxiety, however, when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is kept in the home. If this medicine is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough has appeared, the attack may be warded off.

AGRICULTURE IN SCHOOLS. IMPORTANT TO TOBACCO GROWERS.

The teaching of Agriculture in the country schools is not only of decided advantage to the rising generation but will be of benefit to farmers of the present day. The look teaching at the school, to be effective, must be supplemented by practical demonstration at home, or, better still, by practical application on school farms. The country is surcharged with theoretical farmers and agricultural spell binders, some of whom talk for wages others talk just to hear the echo of their voices. They are doing more harm than good. Attach a small field to each country school and have the boys put in practice that which they learn from the books and an interest will be evoked which will result in better farmers for the future and an improvement on farming of the present.—Bamberge

In view of this action, it is very important that all types be sent in at once, that every one's tobacco may participate in the open market. Large orders are on file which are expected to consume the balance of the 1906 crop and a large part of the 1907 crop. All purchasers must take one hog-head of the old crop with every four hog-heads they buy of the 1907 crop. BURLY TOBACCO SOCIETY.

A VALUABLE TIP.

After exposure or when you feel a cold coming on take a few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar and it will expel the cold from your system. It cures the most stubborn coughs and colds, and prevents pneumonia.

In a dispatch from Frankfort the correspondent says that J. Sherman Coopers head will go off with several others in the State, when Senator Bradley and the new president take their seat. Mr. Cooper fought Mr. Bradley and his crowd and the Senator is fixing to show Mr. Cooper just how much he thinks of him. Mr. Welch Wiseman of Danville is said to be an applicant for the place and it Mr. Bradley wants him to have it, it is very likely Mr. Wiseman will take Mr. Coopers place at the pie counter. However Mr. Cooper and his friends are not scared for they say that their interest will be looked after by Mr. Edwards. A hard fight any way is promised and there will be lots of fun before it is over.—Somerset Times.
